

Press Release 2012/01 #1

Castlegem offering E3 Sandybridge with 32GB RAM

With the significant price drop in the 8GB memory modules for the E3/Sandybridge based machines, Castlegem is happy to announce availability of dedicated servers with E3 CPUs and 32GB of RAM, effective immediately. This price drop could be a major incentive to let go of the somewhat older X34xx series as they, until now, were the only alternative for an E3 if clients needed a 32GB memory single CPU machine.

During the final sales in December we have also realigned our dedicated server range: We no longer offer Atom servers (unless specifically requested), and have instead replaced them with the i3-2100 CPUs that offer several times the performance for only a small increase in price. Furthermore, we have upgraded the E3 and X34xx series to feature 8GB of RAM by default to clearly distinguish them from their smaller brother, the i2-2100/2120 with dual HDD.

We have also adjusted our VPS range for customers seeking an entry level VPS with very low resource consumption – virtual private servers now start at 256MB memory and are available as XEN HVM, XEN PV, and OpenVZ in the UK, Austria, and the United States. Prices start as low as £ 2.50 net per month.
